

To those considering inviting Mr. Mike Sgrignoli for a visit –

Little Lambs Preschool had the pleasure of hosting a visit from Mr. Mike – the "Dino Man" according to the students.

Mr. Mike's presentation was entertaining and educational. He was engaging to both the children AND the parents. Mr. Mike allowed the audience to lead the presentation in which facts were shared. His knowledge base was phenomenal and he was able to change his presentation fluidly based on the questions from the audience. Mr. Mike's humor and high energy kept the students' attention for an extended amount of time, especially for preschool children.

Parents are reporting that the presentation has sparked interest for dinosaurs in their children who had previously only spoke of things like princesses and trains. Many children are still talking about the "special guest" who visited our school.

We will certainly invite Mr. Mike to return in the future and look forward to hearing more of his poems as well as some of his new music!
